NAVIGATION BUREAU CHIEF IS RETIRED

Rear Admiral Brownson Has Reached Age Limit After Long Career in Navy.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., July 8.—After being in active service since civil war days, Rear Admiral Willard H. Brownson, at present in charge of the bureau of navigation at the navy department, reached the age of statutory retirement today. Admiral Brownson is one of the most popular officers of the navy and in his long career he has been the central figure in a number of stirring adventures. One of these occurred in 1893, when Rear Admiral de Mello of Brazil, with a small fleet, consisting of one ironclad cruiser, two torpedo boats and several merchant vessels, seized the harbor of Rio Janeiro. No vessels could pass into or reach the piers in the harbor, and much distress was occasioned. A small fleet of American warships was in the neighborhood, among them the Detroit, in command of Admiral Brownson, then a commander. An American merchantman was also there with a cargo to discharge, but was prevented from landing by Mello's fleet. Her captain appealed to the commodore in command of the American warships, with the result that the Detroit was detailed to act as an escort to the American vessel and to see that her captain had an opportunity to discharge her cargo. Clearing decks for action and with every man at his post, Commander Brownson sent word to Admiral de Mello of what he intended to do, and then gave the command that sent the Detroit and the smaller vessel on their perilous way. Through a lane formed by the Mello navy they sailed. Some gunner of the merchantman, and before the big guns of the Detroit belched forth, Brownson shouted from the bridge to the Brazilian admiral that if another shot was fired he would deliver a broadside. This had the effect of alarming the Brazilians, and the vessel discharged her cargo in peace and retired in good order.

THOUSANDS OF KNIGHTS TEMPLARS FILL SARATOGA

Capacity Of City To Entertain Large Crowds Is Taxed--Conclave Opens With Reception Tonight.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Saratoga, N. Y., July 8.—Special and regular trains arriving at short intervals poured thousands of Knights Templars into Saratoga today to attend the thirtieth triennial conclave of the grand encampment. Every section of the country is represented by the arrivals and the far west indications the south and the far west will be especially well represented at the conclave. Many of the visiting bodies have brought with them, and the scenes at the stations and hotels are those of gayety and pleasing confusion. Stragglers are noticeably absent, the delegations arriving in complete numbers in nearly every instance.

A large number of commanderies were several hours late, but they seemed to come in as fast as the tracks could be cleared to make room for them. Early in the morning the streets and public places about town took on a crowded appearance, and everywhere were men wearing straight-cut black coats, adorned with mystic insignia, and women wearing ribbons and badges of various colors. Scenes of unusual activity were presented in the corridors of the big hotels.

Great as is the capacity of Saratoga for entertaining crowds, all accommodations will doubtless be taxed during the remainder of this week. It is estimated that at least 100,000 visitors will be here before tomorrow morning. Every possible provision has been made for their comfort and entertainment. Many of the delegations that arrived in special cars will continue to occupy the cars as sleeping quarters during their stay. Two of the largest churches have been converted into restaurants to help those who have taken nearby lodgings. Another temporary cafe capable of feeding 5,000 at one time has been provided.

The encampment program will be ushered in tonight with a reception in honor of Grand Master Moulton and the grand encampment by the grand commandery of New York.

Tomorrow will be the day of the great parade. Eleven divisions will constitute the great procession that is to be reviewed by Governor Hughes and other invited guests. In the first division will be the officers of the grand encampment and notable visitors, among the latter being the Earl of Enston, the supreme grand master of the great priory of England and Wales, as well as the special representative of King Edward.

The Knights Templars' exhibition drill at the famous Saratoga race track Wednesday morning is expected to be the best ever given, and next to the parade of tomorrow is the great feature of the triennial conclave. In Convention Hall Wednesday night four elegant trophies will be presented to the winners in the competitive drills.

Thursday will be especially for fraternal visits and the progressive ball is scheduled for the same evening, to open in the Grand Union and United States hotels, Congress hall and Convention hall, simultaneously, by an exhibition drill. These are only the greater, conspicuous events on the week's program, as scores of others have been provided, including many band concerts, excursions, constant entertainments in hotels and continuous outdoor vaudeville in the parks.

ROCKEFELLER ENJOYS DAYS AT THE LINKS

Celebrates His Sixty-eighth Birth- day at Cleveland Golf Course.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Cleveland, O., July 8.—John D. Rockefeller celebrated his 68th birthday by watching play for the Olympic cup on the Euclid club links. It seems to be about as difficult to fix the oil magnate's exact age as it usually is to light upon his exact whereabouts. Some authorities have it that Mr. Rockefeller was born July 8, 1838, while others declare that it was in 1839 that he first saw the light of day and began to dream of oil combines and millions.

However, this may be it is certain that Mr. Rockefeller finds himself on his present birthday, whether it be his sixty-eighth or sixty-ninth, the possessor of more money than any other known individual in this or any other country. And it is a pretty safe guess that the more birthdays he has the more money he will possess, despite the fact that he scatters quite a few millions yearly among American colleges and charities.

Three or four years ago, when Mr. Rockefeller did not have very much more than half a billion dollars to his name, his income was two dollars and a few cents over every second of the day. The average man earning $2 a day can appreciate the difference there is between $2 a day for six days a week and $2 a day for seven days a week. It is impossible for human mind to comprehend the wealth, should of Mr. Rockefeller's wealth, should the oil magnate live to reach his one hundred birthday and should his fortune continue to increase at the present rate.

BIT OF LIFE ON THE GREAT CANAL

OSCAR L. BROWNELL WRITES FROM GATUN.

JANESVILLE MAN'S VIEWS

Is Now Foreman of Gang of Carpenters—Has His Own Quarters—Two Photographs.

Gatun, June 16, 1907.

Janesville Daily Gazette.

Dear Sirs: I will sit down and write you a long delayed letter. After paying relatives a short visit in my old home in Mount Vision, Orsago Co., N. Y., I took the Panama Steamship, Advance, on October 2nd, 1906, and landed in Colon, Isthmus Panama, Oct. 9th, after a fairly pleasant voyage, the last two days being quite rough.

I reported at headquarters at Chibola, my former location, to Gatun. It was a pretty rough life for about two months, I had to live in a tent for that period, then we had quarters built and you may bet we appreciated them.

Gatun is situated on top of a range of hills and we get a fine breeze when there is any air stirring. Gatun is where one of the big dams will be built and it will be a monster, about two and one half miles long, fifty-hundred feet in width, upon top and eighty-five feet in height, and will take about six years to build, the stone that will be used in its construction will come mostly from the Historic City, Porto Bello.

This dam will make an artificial lake, covering one hundred and ten square miles, and will be from forty-five to eighty feet in depth. They are cutting and filling in the headers for the dam now.

There has been about seventy buildings put up here in Gatun in the last nine months, and there is a church, two school houses, and some other minor buildings yet to be built. The officials here saw fit to honor one with a foremanship and I have filled that capacity for the last six months. I run a white gang from fourteen to twenty-three men.

Enclosed you will find photo of the married quarters that I live in, they are very nice, cool and nicely furnished.

ed, as good as anyone need ask, and we are also furnished with fuel and water, free. My family arrived here April 6, 1907, after a very rough voyage, the captain said that their trips were seldom rougher, they were all sea sick for about three days out, but on the whole, they enjoyed the trip, they like it here so far and have had good health. The rainy weather season is setting in now, and will be more disagreeable.

We have all been over to Panama once, and a short time ago we took a trip back into the jungle, to a plantation, run by a native, we saw a good many different kinds of fruits in its native state. I will give you the names as I remember them: bananas, plantain, pine apple, oranges, sweet lemons, limes, rose apples, paw paw, cashew, bread fruit, guava, alligator pears, mangoes, and we saw coffee, cocoa, calabash and sugar cane. We also saw numerous different kinds of flowers, ferns, palms, and orchids. On our way through the trail, there was one very large snake came up out of the trail, it was all of nine feet long and as large through as a man's arm. We stood still until the children had a good look at him and when he moved away, I thought it better policy to let him go, as we had the children with us. Some of the scenery was simply grand, but at times it was close and hot. There are a number thirty-two miles from Colon.

There are large machine shops are situated and the place itself has a history. The word Matichin means dead Chinaman. It seems in the time of the French they were taken with the plague in this section and the Chinamen were so frightened at the disease and the way that they were dying off that a great many of them committed suicide by jumping off the bridge into the river, and others by disemboweling themselves.

Now as I happen to think of a funny incident that happened in Colon I will tell it to you. The natives here, most all of them, carry everything upon their head. One of the negroes went to the postoffice and was handed a letter, and from force of habit, I suppose, put it on her head to carry it. As she stepped into the street the wind blew it off. She goes and gets it and at the same time picks up a chunk of dirt, places the letter back upon her head and places the chunk of dirt upon the letter and walks on as though nothing had happened. Another peculiar trait with some of the natives is they use one ear for a purse to carry their loose change in. They will put a number of ten cent pieces in first, then fasten it all in with a twenty cent piece. A handy place to carry money if your pockets have all given out.

OSCAR L. BROWNELL.

Statistics Being Prepared on the Crop at the Present Time to Show Conditions.

Secretary Fisher of the Wisconsin Tobacco Growers' and Dealers' Association, is sending out circulars to township secretaries asking for a report on the condition of the new tobacco crop July 10, says the Edgerton Reporter. An effort will be made to get at the acreage as compared with a year ago, the progress of the planting and the general condition of the crop on that date. By that time the transplanting will be so near an end that reliable estimates ought to be secured. It is to be hoped that the correspondents which cover practically the entire tobacco growing sections of the state, will give this matter prompt attention, so that the first preliminary report will give a very fair idea of how the crop is starting out. Later reports will be asked for after the harvest, which ought to keep the public informed as to the prospects of the year.

Crops Late.

Probably never before has there been so large a proportion of a tobacco crop planted in a given time as has been transferred to the fields in this state during the week past. The lateness of the season has given growers an impetus to rush orders to complete their work. All conditions, too, were favorable to the transplanting. Plants were in abundance ready for the fields, the soil contained ample moisture and the weather cool and comfortable for long hours of outdoor labor. While the crop is not entirely out by any means, the great bulk will be safely in the fields by the close of this week, and the thrifty, progressive growers even of large acreage have finished. Another week ought to see the belated ones also in line, though it is hardly probable that a full intended acreage will be planted. The greatest fear the growers have is that by rushing the planting the harvest is likely to be bunched at a time when extra labor is hard to get.

Very Busy.

The past week has been the busiest of the year in the growing districts of the state where every available bit of labor has been employed in transplanting the tobacco crop. The weather conditions have generally been favorable, so that every hour has counted in the haste to complete this work. The end of the present week will see the great bulk of the crop safely transferred to the fields and the plants well started. Very little resetting of the fields has been necessary so far and growers are flitting themselves that they have secured an even, well-rooted stand. The early-set fields are showing up well and have already commenced to make up for the delays in early planting.

The cured leaf markets contain very little of interest to note. There is a bit of small trading going on from growers and packers of the cheaper grades. Holders of old stock report a stronger inquiry but sales so far show but little improvement.

Considerable Ohio tobacco has been shipped into the state for rehandling this year, furnishing employment for several hundred hands at the packing points.

The shipments out of storage have been liberal during the week, upwards of 25 carloads, or about 1500 cases, to all points from this market.

St. Louis Long Range Forecaster Predicts Storms Centering Today—Other Line for the Month.

Rev. I. Hicks, the long range weather forecaster, who foretells the weather months ahead and is now at work saying just what kind of a spring we may expect next year, predicts a series of storms centering on Monday, today, the 8th of July. Mr. Hicks is a great weather prophet and his predictions are read with interest whether he is correct or not. He says for the rest of July the following:

The second storm period, regular, is central on the 8th. A very warm wave will cross the country from the 6th to the 11th, and "blustering" storms will reach active to violent culminations on and touching the 8th and 10th. Rising barometer and change to cooler from about the 10th.

The third storm period, reactionary, is central on the 13th, 14th and 15th. Existing causes may prolong storms and other disturbances on through the 16th and 17th, into the next storm period.

The fourth storm period, regular, is central on the 20th, covering the 18th to the 23rd. The 20th to 22d will be dominating storm days, following change to some cooler.

The fifth storm period, reactionary, is central on the 24th, 25th and 26th. Within forty-eight hours of sunset on the 24th many storms and marked seismic disturbances.

The sixth storm period, regular, falls within a Mercury period. It is central on the 31st and extends from the 29th two days into August. Change to much warmer and gathering thunderstorms will begin in the west by the 29th.

DOCTORS ENDORSE HERPICIDE

Because its Formula is Submitted to Them.

Alexander McMillan, M. D., a prominent physician of Lansing, Michigan, writes: "On three cases I have tested Herpicide for dandruff and the result has been all that could be desired."

Herpicide is made upon an entirely new principle, that is, that dandruff and falling hair are caused from a microbe that infests the hair bulb, and, by destroying the microbe one's hair is bound to grow luxuriantly. Herpicide is the one hair remedy, that claims to, and really does, destroy the dandruff germs.

Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to The Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich.

Two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00. J. P. Baker, Social Agent.

STEAMER COLUMBIA

THE CONVENTION OPENS TUESDAY

GREAT SUNDAY GATHERING ASSEMBLING IN THE CITY.

ARRANGEMENTS COMPLETED

Judge Lindsey of Denver on the Program Tomorrow—Other Prominent Speakers.

General Secretary W. J. Semelroth of the State Sunday School association has been in Janesville for several days. He reports all details about completed and says the indications are that Janesville will enjoy the distinction of having a greater Sunday school convention than any yet held by the Wisconsin association. Some other states have over 1500 delegates, but one-fifth of that number will be about two hundred per cent more than last year in this state.

At the convention at Eau Claire last year Prof. Charles W. Treat, who is vice president of Lawrence university at Appleton, was elected president. He is an able and aggressive leader, and his first year's administration will always be coupled with the inauguration of the new movement now under way to bring Wisconsin to the front line of Sunday school states. He is putting into the direction of the Sunday school work the same executive force and push that are in evidence at the university. Being an educator he knows what Sunday school teachers need, and with the aggressive Christian businessmen associated with him on the state executive committee, proposes that Wisconsin Sunday school teachers shall have what they need to the extent that any other state is giving this help.

The convention will be opened tomorrow afternoon at 1:30 by Vice President Luther Davies. Mr. Davies

Boughton, who has been a singer for years with Evangelists B. Marvin Harris, M. B. Williams and others. He has a fine solo power and is an inspiring leader.

The Sunday school association of officers want all Janesville folks to be assured that they are most cordially invited to all sessions of the convention.

LIBRARY FINANCES IN GOOD CONDITION

Expenditures During Past Year Amount to $4,024.38—Cash on Hand, $465.19.

The finances of the Janesville free public library are in excellent condition, the expenditures during the past year having been $465.19 less the receipts. The annual report of the institution will be made to the common council this evening by William Bladon, president of the board of directors. At the same time the annual appropriation of $4,000 will probably be made. The report of the fiscal year of 1906-1907 contains the following interesting statement:

Statistics Being Prepared on the Crop at the Present Time to Show Conditions.

Secretary Fisher of the Wisconsin Tobacco Growers' and Dealers' Association, is sending out circulars to township secretaries asking for a report on the condition of the new tobacco crop July 10, says the Edgerton Reporter. An effort will be made to get at the acreage as compared with a year ago, the progress of the planting and the general condition of the crop on that date. By that time the transplanting will be so near an end that reliable estimates ought to be secured. It is to be hoped that the correspondents which cover practically the entire tobacco growing sections of the state, will give this matter prompt attention, so that the first preliminary report will give a very fair idea of how the crop is starting out. Later reports will be asked for after the harvest, which ought to keep the public informed as to the prospects of the year.

Crops Late.

Probably never before has there been so large a proportion of a tobacco crop planted in a given time as has been transferred to the fields in this state during the week past. The lateness of the season has given growers an impetus to rush orders to complete their work. All conditions, too, were favorable to the transplanting. Plants were in abundance ready for the fields, the soil contained ample moisture and the weather cool and comfortable for long hours of outdoor labor. While the crop is not entirely out by any means, the great bulk will be safely in the fields by the close of this week, and the thrifty, progressive growers even of large acreage have finished. Another week ought to see the belated ones also in line, though it is hardly probable that a full intended acreage will be planted. The greatest fear the growers have is that by rushing the planting the harvest is likely to be bunched at a time when extra labor is hard to get.

Very Busy.

The past week has been the busiest of the year in the growing districts of the state where every available bit of labor has been employed in transplanting the tobacco crop. The weather conditions have generally been favorable, so that every hour has counted in the haste to complete this work. The end of the present week will see the great bulk of the crop safely transferred to the fields and the plants well started. Very little resetting of the fields has been necessary so far and growers are flitting themselves that they have secured an even, well-rooted stand. The early-set fields are showing up well and have already commenced to make up for the delays in early planting.

The cured leaf markets contain very little of interest to note. There is a bit of small trading going on from growers and packers of the cheaper grades. Holders of old stock report a stronger inquiry but sales so far show but little improvement.

You may "disarm a difficulty" in a majority of instances by timely want advertising.

LAST DAY FOR EXTRA VOTES

J. F. Newman and Ray Kemmerer Are Almost Tied for the High Vote of the Contest in District 3—Mr. O. B. Hall Takes First Place and Miss Alma Helgeson Second in the 2nd District.

MANY VOTES BEING STORED AWAY

First Place in the Ladies' List Is Held by Mrs. Alice Fish, While Miss Grace Conroy and Miss Anna Engbretson Are Almost Tied in Second and Third—Thos. Leahy Takes First Place Today, But Is Closely Pressed by James Gregory and Thos. Heffernan.

There were several changes in positions Saturday and there could be many more if candidates wished to vote instead of hold back their votes. While it appears on the surface to be a neck and neck race, there is "something up the sleeve" of several further down that will stir trouble among the "sure thing" contestants when the right time presents itself. Our warning from the first has been to keep your eyes open for the dark horse, and that our guess is likely to become true is becoming more evident each day. The ones with the heavy "votes" recorded are not so much afraid of each other as they are of some one coming from down the list who has been looked upon as a passive candidate.

While a hundred or a few thousand votes indicate, absolutely nothing and no matter where your favorites stand today don't lose faith, as they know their chances were not good. Save your ballot for them and when paying your subscription bill give them the benefit of that substantial boost which is within the power of every Janesville Gazette subscriber.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, Monday, July 8, 1867.—Joint Pic Nic.—The Sunday Schools and grown people of the Congregational and Presbyterian churches propose to hold a pic nic at Pope's spring, about three miles up the river, on Thursday next. They have engaged the flat boats to take the crowd there and bring them back. Music and speaking will enter into the program.

A Superb Day.—Among the day gems which the year scatters with so lavish a hand, none was ever more resplendent than yesterday. It came from the mine of time perfect in complexion and finish. Neither too warm nor too cold, too dry nor too wet, its light was made up of the golden sunshine interwoven with shadows of fleecy clouds, and its atmosphere was pure and sweet as the winds of heaven.

Fourth of July.—The ladies who represented the states of the union on the fourth inst., are kindly requested to meet at Good Templars' hall, on Tuesday evening the 10th inst., at 7 1/2 p. m., preparatory to going to Souborn's restaurant to partake of an entertainment which the committee were unable to provide for them in a suitable manner on the 4th of July. By order of the committee of arrangements.

Fined for Keeping Open Shop on Sunday.—Prof. Lucas, a Sabatarian, who shuts his shop on Friday evening and opens it on Saturday evening, being pained at the immortality of a tonsorial brother named Isbell, who shaved people on Sunday—complained of him before Justice Hudson this morning, for breaking the Sabbath. Upon trial he was found guilty and fined $2 and costs. We inquired of the Prof. if his stubborn love of virtue would prompt him to proceed against liquor saloons which didn't recognize any Sunday, when he replied that he was not interested in that matter.

Many ills come from impure blood. Can't have pure blood with faulty digestion, lazy liver and sluggish bowels. Burdock Blood Bitters strengthens stomach, bowels and liver, and purifies the blood.

Cipriano Castro

President Cipriano Castro of Venezuela was born in the state of Tachira, Venezuela, in 1860. As a boy he kept a small store and attended to his father's cattle. He is said to have been penniless when he gained the presidency through a revolution; but is now understood to be worth many millions. He has constantly been embroiled with European governments over the failure of his administration to pay big debts incurred by his government. The customs of Venezuela are now pledged to a certain extent to wiping out these debts. He was elected president in March, 1907, and again in March, 1905. He has been reported recently as being on the verge of death but no definite information can be obtained either as to his daily life or exact state of his health.

HAD TO GO ON IN AUTO.

Machine Wouldn't Stop and Owner Tried to Wear It Out.

John P. Julius, a prominent piano dealer, of York, Pa., and an enthusiastic automobilist, engaged with his electric auto in an endurance run, which he will not soon forget. While driving along through the city streets something went wrong with the mechanism of his car and he found that he was unable to stop it. Though moving at a lively clip the car's pace was within the speed limit, and Mr. Julius, with great presence of mind, steered it on, meanwhile giving his spare attention to a search for the trouble. This search he finally abandoned, and then began the endurance run, which continued up hill and down through the streets and over country roads for several hours. The machine continued to bowl merrily on, and Mr. Julius was in despair, when he passed a garage and managed to attract the attention of a mechanic, who jumped aboard and by removing a few plugs brought up the runaway.

Faulty Statistics.

"The department of agriculture has figured out," he read from the paper, "that rats cost the people of this country $100,000,000 a year." "John Henry," replied his wife, "I don't believe a word of it. Why, mine only cost 25 cents, some women make their own, and some wear their hair flat. Hub, can't tell me."

THE REST ROOM

That Janesville needs a Rest Room for women and children, located in some public place, has been demonstrated by the experience of last Thursday when thousands of women and children were inconvenienced by the lack of such a place. In a recent issue of Collier's magazine the idea is taken up and commented upon editorially. It is worth considering. Janesville merchants could well discuss the expenditure of the sum needed to make the room a fact. It would increase their business, would bring new customers to town and give Janesville a reputation. Collier's in speaking of the project says:

"Oskaloosa, Iowa, has many claims to distinction besides a beautiful name and the official residence of Kilsick, patriotic instructor of the Grand Army of the Republic. It has what Carbondale, Kansas, has not and what every town needs—a 'rest room' where farmers' wives may stay while their husbands are indulging in 'man-talk.' Mrs. Ella W. Peattie, who crowns a successful literary career by painstakingly reading these editorials, thus writes of a glimpse she had of this beneficent chamber when she happened to be in Oskaloosa one hot spring day: 'I wandered about the town 'for to admire,' and so chanced to observe the farm women turned into the basement of the city hall. The place was a 'rest room.' I think I went down a step or two into a beautifully clean whitewashed room. There was a rug on the cement floor, and there were muslin curtains at the window. Half a dozen rockers and several other easy chairs were in this room; the table was spread with the latest magazines and the local papers; there were a few shelves of books on the wall, and some more than agreeable pictures, and a clock which was really keeping time. Out of this room opened an apartment supplied with three long tables, twenty or more dining chairs, and a sofa. The tables were covered with clean newspapers, and on them were spread the lunches which the farm women had taken from their baskets. Opening out of the sitting-room was a large toilet, generously supplied with clean towels, soap, combs, etc. A motherly woman presided over these rooms, and supplied me with a drink of water, a fan, and some excellent information. 'The 'rest-room' idea in Oskaloosa originated with the woman's club of the place. A delegation had visited the town council and secured an appropriation and the attractive basement rooms. 'I do not know the division of expense,' writes Mrs. Peattie, 'but between the club and the council, the matron had her wage, the place was heated, supplied with literature, growing plants, and clean linen, and not only the farm women, but the girls from the telephone office, and the stenographers from the city offices, and the clerks from the shops, had their place of meeting. Here they could enjoy that sociability which is needed for the Christian digestion of a meal and refresh themselves. The pictures were reproductions of masterpieces. The books were good enough for the best to read. The cradle was dainty enough for anybody's baby. It gave me, a sojourner, a very friendly feeling. It not only rested my body, but it was much more to the point, it warmed the cookies of my heart. I fancy that the women's clubs, which have, and realize that they have, too little connection with reality, often, would be only too glad to have such an honest, disinterested, practical piece of work to do, if only the idea occurred to them. It's a piece of beneficence of a distinctly feminine order. And any town could have its rest room—any town with merchants who want the trade the women bring.'"

FOUR AUTOMOBILE PARTIES IN CITY

Three Were Composed of Chicago People and One Was From Waukesha.

Four automobile parties were registered at the Hotel Myers over Sunday. C. Henning and wife and sister came in from Chicago Saturday night. Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Boiset, Mrs. W. P. Elliott, and R. L. Marston and French chaperon also arrived from Chicago in a large French touring car the same evening. Mr. and Mrs. Edward Merz, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Knapp, Dr. and Mrs. Bomer, Richard Merz and George and Frank Bomer composed a Chicago party which arrived here yesterday, and G. A. Butterfield and family and Mrs. M. L. Butterfield were here from Waukesha.

MATRIMONIAL.

Adams-Howe.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Adams in Eau Claire on Saturday evening, June 22nd, occurred the wedding of their daughter, Mattie Vere, to Mr. Glenn R. Howe of Orléville, Wis. Rev. Samuel Brown of Chippewa Falls officiated. The bride and groom are "at home" at 411 Washington avenue, Eau Claire, Wis.

ASSESSMENT ROLLS READY FOR COUNCIL

And Annual Tax Levy May Be Made at the Regular Meeting This Evening—Other Business in Prospect.

At the regular meeting of the city council this evening the assessment rolls will be presented for approval. The annual tax levy is usually made at this time and the finance committee may have some recommendations to present. There was some discussion immediately after the last meeting as to the health commissioner's authority to appoint an assistant but City Attorney Maxfield says that the right is clearly granted under the charter and his ruling seems likely to be accepted. One brewery and two saloon applications for licenses which were not in due form at the last session have been rectified and will be acted upon tonight. Bids for furnishing the lumber for replanking the Fourth avenue bridge will be opened, and the regular routine business transacted.

GOLF PLAYERS ARE TO ENJOY THE GAME

Finals For Valentine Medal and Semi-Finals For Lane Cup Are to Be Held Tuesday.

Tomorrow the finals in the ladies' contest for the Valentine medal and the semi-finals in the men's match for the Wilson Lane cup will be played in the afternoon at the Siniissippi Golf Club, after which the regular club supper will be served and the last of the first series of six dances given by the house committee will be held in the evening.

Miss Mabel Jackson will be matched against Miss Daisy McLean in the ladies' contest for the Valentine medal and in the men's semi-finals Fred Schaller and F. E. Fifield will play. The approaching and putting mixed foursome contest will also be a feature of club day, a prize being offered for both the ladies and the gentlemen. Tickets will also be sold by the house committee tomorrow for the second series of six dances, the first one to be held Tuesday evening, July 16.

F. E. Fifield was awarded the beautiful stein offered by A. P. Burnham for having the lowest net average score for four match rounds of 18 holes in the month of June. A similar series of matches will be held during the present month, J. P. Baker having offered a prize for the winner. Under the regulations each player, competing for the prize must secure a signed and dated score card from either Mr. Baker or J. P. Wilcox, the secretary, each card to be used on the day it is issued. The scores must be made in match play of 18 holes, the cards to be signed by an opponent and to be in on or before July 31. All active members, whether on the team or not, will be eligible to compete for the prize.

A complete list of the club members is being prepared and will be posted in the club house in the near future. A new departure has been taken by the club in the installation of a register book at the club house where all members are requested to have their guests register upon their first visit to the club.

PECULIAR SEED CASE ON TRIAL

William Finley Seeks $25 Damages from His Neighbor, Fred Wadel, Alleging Fraud.

Before Judge Reader today the unusual town of Rock seed case is being tried. William Finley is suing his neighbor, Fred Wadel, for $25, alleging that he contracted with the defendant to sow a field with timothy and clover seed and that not only was the contract never fulfilled, but that his neighbor buried the seed or a large portion of it in one spot. Attorney Edward Ryan represents the plaintiff and Attorney Louis Avery, the defendant. Mr. Wadel avers that he faithfully performed his contract and that if the seed did not grow it was because the plaintiff turned his sheep into the field during the fall and winter. The defense has also endeavored to show that three quarts of seed might easily have slipped from the seeder while it was standing in one spot, at the same time disavowing any knowledge of such a thing actually occurring in this case. The "cache" of seed, turned up by the plow was not in a bag, as was at first reported, and there is no way of identifying it as that which Finley turned over to Wadel.

BRAKEMAN MARTIN CARROLL FELL BETWEEN TWO BRIDGES

Martin Carroll, a brakeman in the employ of the Northwestern company, is laid up at his home in the Jeffris flats as the result of an accident at Manitowish Junction, near Green Bay, a week ago. It was at ten o'clock at night and while the train was standing on a viaduct he stepped from the cars to couple an air brake hose. In the dark he walked off the end of a tie and fell down a distance of twelve feet between two bridges. He struck on his face and sustained a cut over one eye, bruises on the nose and bruises on his arms and one hip. He will not be back to work for a week.

Bisley Rifle Meeting

London, July 8.—Seldom if ever before in the history of the National Rifle association's competitions has so much public interest been manifested as is displayed in the meeting this year, which opened at Bisley today. The best teams from Canada, Australia, India and Uganda are to take part in the competitions, which will extend over a period of twelve days.

EPISCOPAL MISSION NAMED FOR ST. PETER

St. Atkinson Church Is Named—Other News of the Creamery City—New Boat.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
St. Atkinson, Wis., June 8.—The Episcopal mission recently organized in Fort Atkinson has been given the name of St. Peter's mission by the Right Rev. Walter Webb, bishop of the diocese of Milwaukee. On St. Peter's day, the twenty-ninth of June, the mission celebrated its first communion, the Rev. Dr. Day of St. Edmund's church, Milwaukee, officiating. On the eve of St. Peter's day an informal reception was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Jones, where the members of the newly organized mission were at home to friends.

The marriage of "Sol" Cooper, one of the proprietors of the Golden Eagle Clothing House of the city, to Miss Gertrude Harris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harris Cohen of Chicago, occurred in that city last week. The affair was a brilliant one, over four hundred guests being present. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper immediately departed east on a wedding trip.

R. T. Sund of Appleton was appointed station agent for the North-Western road last week and took the station in charge Thursday. W. O. Allen, who has given excellent satisfaction during his short stay in the city, has returned to DePere.

The Cornish, Curtis & Greene Manufacturing company has commenced moving its lumber yard from the foot of Edward street to land belonging to the company near the railroad crossing at Harrison street.

One of the handsomest boats to be put on the river this summer will be Will G. Ganong's twenty-three-foot launch "Lunette." The boat has a beam of five and one-half feet, a canopy top, and is equipped with a five-horsepower, four-cylinder, two-cylinder Dorman engine. It was built by Dan Kidney & Son, West DePere. Frank Quig is closing out his restaurant business.

Ex-Gov. George Peck and son George, Jr., were at Blackhawk Island on a fishing trip last week.

JANESVILLE TEAMS BEATEN YESTERDAY

Wend's Nine Lost to Rockford Semi-Pros—Athletics Nosed Out of Victory by Beloit Aggregation.

Wend's Janesville baseball team played at Riverside Park near Harmon Park Rockford yesterday afternoon and lost to the Rockford Semi-Pros in a fast, spectacular game. The score which was 10 to 0, does not tell the story of the game. Palmer of Peconica pitched for the Forest City nine and the locals secured twelve hits and made but six strike-outs. "Cy" Young, the former Wisconsin university twirler, occupied the box for Janesville and allowed but seven hits.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

Automobile Mishap: Leo Brownell's Ford runabout was ditched in a peculiar manner on the Magnolia road last evening and the owner was given a bad shaking up. Upon leaving the golf links he neglected to latch the little door which opens from the side of the hood. He heard it rattling and with one hand on the wheel, leaned out to shut it while going at a brisk rate. The machine swung to the left of the road and he looked up just in time to avoid, by a sharp swerve, which threw the car into the ditch, a collision with a post holding a mailbox which stands out in front of one of the residences near the Washington street intersection. The occupant was thrown out and the car which, after climbing half way up the other side of the waterway, broke down. It is in the repair shop today.

MARRIAGE LICENSE.

Application for a marriage license, was filed today by Philip Ledzinske and Paulina Sievert, both of Janesville.

LEECHES AND LEMONS.

The Latter a Cure for the Former in Ceylon.

"Wherever you go, in Ceylon," said the sailor, "you always carry a lemon with you. For punch? No, sir; not for punch. For leeches.

"They ain't merely water leeches in Ceylon; they're land leeches, too. These blood suckers hang on to bushes and trees; they lurk in the grass, waitin' for you. The average size before dinner is only about half an inch long and no thicker than a hair—you might say invisible. They eatly work their way through the thread of your stockings and underwear. After dinner they're as fat as your finger.

"Wherever you go the leeches prey on you. I was dressed in white one night, ridin' with a beautiful Ceylon girl, when I saw a red streak on my white pants below the knee. Excuse me, I myself hastily, I retired. It was a leech, of course, dinin' with me uninvited.

"The only way to get them off without breakin' them and leavin' their heads inside you is to squeeze a few drops of lemon on them, the same as if they was raw oysters. That paralyzes them and they fall to the ground like ripe fruit. Every two or three minutes you see the Ceylonese stop, take out a lemon and anon carefully the half dozen leeches stuck in a black mass to the calf of the leg.

"The average Ceylon leech was, I said, half an inch long. Yet there's some full three inches long that can jump, by crinns, that jump on you from the bushes as you pass by.

"Sounds doobious, don't it? But what can be doobious in a land where they have bird-catchin' spiders and centipedes a foot long?"

Real Hard Cider.

John Fair, a highly respected citizen of Montgomery, Hampden county, has at his home a small keg containing several quarts of cider which was made by himself 51 years ago, says the Philadelphia Record. Altogether there were several kegs of the liquid, but now only a few quarts remain, and Mr. Fair is guarding that jealously. The cider is so old that it has turned black in color, and so strong that less than a teaspoonful will put a drinker in the Happy Land.

maybe young men expecting to enter the medical profession had better investigate the possibilities in the legal fraternity before making their final choice.

Physicians get off a story to the effect that some people would cheerfully pay a thousand dollars to the lawyer to be kept out of the penitentiary but when it comes to paying the doctor $50 for an operation to keep them out of hell they kick.

REVIVAL CLOSED SUNDAY EVENING

REV. SCOVILLE PREACHED HIS LAST GREAT SERMON.

MONTH'S WORK COMPLETED

More Than Four Hundred and Fifty Have Been Influenced by His Work.

Although the weather has been intensely hot most of the time during the soul-winning campaign conducted by Dr. Scoville, the attendance has been large at all of the services and the interest good. Last evening the rink was crowded and every one seemed to be in the very best of spirits. Dr. Scoville and Jesse Van Camp conducted the praise service, interspersing same with duets and solos. Music has been a powerful factor in the meetings.

The ministers were very happy in their remarks concerning the work that has been accomplished.

Rev. Vaughan said: "The loyalty, devotion, and unselfishness of this band of workers surpasses any I have ever known and I hope our people will give them a liberal offering."

Rev. Langham stated: "I want to bear testimony to my appreciation of the work which has been done here by these men and women for the past month. Several things appeal to me as worthy of mention. The churches have been united and the ties that bind them have been strengthened. Dr. Scoville has dwelt upon the ethical truths of our religion and that is what we need today—something that will make us kinder, purer and stronger. We owe to him a debt of gratitude. I am glad to add my personal work to what has already been said. What ever experience I have had with Christian workers I have never found a man who seemed to be more completely and more beautifully lifted above anything that savored of a mercenary motive than Dr. Scoville. Far more than results, far more than we can specify or put down in a column is the fact that we have had with us a band of people who have brought the life and who have lived the life of the inspiration of pure, sweet womanhood and manhood."

The pastors had chosen Dr. Tippet to make a plea for an offering for Dr. Scoville and his helpers. His words were earnest and tender. The people responded very readily to his appeals. About six hundred dollars was pledged. Mr. Bannison of the firm Bannison & Lane, was the only man who gave twenty-five dollars. Each preacher in the union became responsible for that amount. There were about 12 who gave ten dollars each and 50 who gave five and a number of twos and ones.

The ministers' that all pledges be paid on or before Wednesday night if possible. The amount is not equal to what the evangelist has received in other places. A great many have not given anything and unless they do Dr. Scoville will not have very much left after he pays his helpers. Hand your offering to any one of the pastors any time this week.

AWFUL TRAGEDY IN BELOIT SEEN BY LOCAL PEOPLE

Baseball Players and Others Saw Man Kicked to Death and Dragged Quarter-Mile by Bronchos.

Hundreds of people, including a score of Janesville residents, witnessed a terrible tragedy on the streets of Beloit last evening, just as the northbound interurban car rounded the curve on West Grand avenue and Fourth street shortly after eight o'clock. George Moffitt, a man of thirty years, was leading a pair of bronchos to the water at the Haymarket square fountain when the two animals took fright at the car and in a wild dash up Fourth street dragged and kicked Moffitt to death. He had tied the halter ropes about his waist and in the awful run his brains were dashed out by the horses' hoofs and his body badly mutilated, being several times thrown high in the air and then dashed to the brick pavement. Fourth street was lined with people and women shrieked and fainted all along the course the horses took. Among the Janesville people on the car were Mr. and Mrs. George Barrie, Henry W. Wood, Jr., Ross Darville, and other members of the local baseball team. Some of these may be called as witnesses should any legal action grow out of the accident.

CAR CO. TO REPLACE BROKEN INSTRUMENT

South Main Street Conveyance Bumped into Evansville Band Thursday Morning.

Drum Major J. H. Johnson of the Evansville band is here today for a little conference with the street car officials. While the musicians were marching east from the depot on Milwaukee street Thursday morning, the South Main street car bumped into Mr. Johnson and R. Smith, the slide trombone player, knocking the instrument out of the latter's hands and breaking it. The drum major was pinched by the back of his head and was badly bruised. As it was not yet fully recovered from his experience, Smith was not hurt and Mr. Johnson claims no damages for the broken instrument. It is understood that a new man in the business, the blame rests with the Street Car Co. as the members of a band, while playing on the march, are very experienced car pilot knowers, are unable to hear the noise of anything short of a threshing machine approaching from behind.

Notice to Stockholders.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of The Janesville Machine Company will be held at their office in Janesville, Wisconsin, on Tuesday, July 16th, at 2 o'clock P. M., for the purpose of electing a board of directors for the ensuing year, and to transact any other business that may come before the meeting.

MORTUARY MENTION.

Amos Rogers

Funeral services over the remains of the late Amos Rogers were held from the home on Washington street at half-past two o'clock this afternoon. Rev. J. H. Tippet officiating. The attendance of loving friends was large and floral offerings were profuse and beautiful. The pallbearers were S. C. Cobb, William Barrell, S. C. Burnham, E. G. Harlow, C. D. Childs and T. H. Edden. Interment was in Oak Hill cemetery.

CHILDREN OF MARY WILL GO TO HARLEM

Hundred and Twenty-five Little Girls of St. Patrick's Parish to Have Annual Outing, July 17.

Plans are now being made for the annual picnic of the Children of Mary, a society of a hundred and twenty-five little girls in St. Patrick's parish. The young people will go to Harlem Park in two special interurban cars Wednesday, July 17, and enjoy the day there. The Young Ladies' Sodality of the same church are planning for their annual outing. No date or place has been selected, but it is very probable that the organization will have an excursion to Milwaukee.

BELIEVED TO BE WORK OF LUNATIC

Several Mysterious Fires in Southern Part of County Have Aroused Much Apprehension.

That some lunatic with an extraordinary bent is at large in the southern portion of the county is a theory which is daily finding more adherents. Drs. Buckmaster and Pember, the physicians who were sent by the insurance men to examine Mrs. W. J. Clark, wife of the tenant of the David Moore farm, a mile south of Atton, where the buildings were destroyed in a mysterious manner, declare that the supernatural that she might be mentally unbalanced was utterly without foundation. They find a solution of the puzzle in the report that neighbors captured but subsequently released on his promise to get out of the country, a strange individual who was setting little fires in the fields. Friday evening the farmhouse on the Knobsfield place near Shopier was burned down and soon after the fire was discovered an unknown man was seen running away from the premises.

Wettest Place on Earth.

The wettest place on earth is reported to be Cherrapunji, India, and a recent fall of 74 1/2 inches of rain in five consecutive days must discourage other competitors for the record.

New Zealand's White Population.

The white population of New Zealand is now $90,000, having increased 117,000 in the last five years.

EXPERTS COMING TO BUILD ROAD

DISTRICT ATTORNEY FISHER RECEIVES WORD FROM WASHINGTON.

TO CONSTRUCT TWO MILES

Towns of Beloit and Clinton Will Probably Be Selected for the Object Lessons.

District Attorney John L. Fisher this morning received a letter from L. W. Page, Director of the Office of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture at Washington, stating that Rock County is to be favored by the department and that the crew of men and machinery for the object road-building lesson would reach Janesville in two weeks.

Means Much

This announcement means much toward the future of Rock County's roads in general. The action taken by the towns in making an appropriation for road-building under the state law, which makes the county appropriate an equal sum was the initial step, the next was the appearance of F. C. Lancaster, the Government Good Roads expert, and his report to the meeting at the Court House three weeks ago. Urged by Mr. Lancaster, S. S. Jones and District Attorney Fisher made application to the United States Government for an engineer and machinery to build two experimental roads.

Ready Response

Within a few days Mr. Fisher received a reply that the application had been put on file and then came his letter, which says the men and machinery are on their way here to actually begin work. It is seldom that Uncle Sam cuts the red tape of a government office to give such ready response to a request, and Mr. Lancaster is perhaps to be thanked for the prompt attention.

Two Roads

It is probable that a mile of roads in Clinton and Beloit townships will be the first built. These two towns have each two thousand dollars for the work with the grading to be done at extra expense to the towns. According to the law the work will be under the supervision of a committee of five for each town. The town chairman and two town supervisors and two members of the county board.

Will Be Watched

The construction of these two sample roads will be carefully watched by other towns all over the county as well as by outside counties and Rock county is taking the lead in this important step toward good roads built systematically.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Through the blood, diseases are carried from one generation to another. Parents transmit them to their children, and so it goes on down the family line for years and years unless the taint is removed from the blood. Especially is this true of Scrofula, for it is a disease that is "bred in the bone," and unless the blood is purified and every trace of the trouble removed the disease will finally undermine the entire health and wreck the life of its victim. The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, Catarrh of the head and throat, skin diseases, etc. The trouble being so firmly entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a waxy, pallid appearance of the skin, loss of strength and energy, and often lung affections, show that the disease is entirely destroying the bright red corpuscles and rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. Scrofula being a constitutional disease, one affecting the entire circulation, must be treated with a remedy that builds up and strengthens every part of the system, which has so long been denied the strength and nourishment it should have received from the blood. S. S. S. is the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, and is therefore the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all germs, taints and poisons, gives strength, richness and vigor to the blood and cures Scrofula permanently. It so thoroughly removes the trouble from the blood that no signs of it are ever seen again, and posterity is started out in life with a clean, pure blood supply, which is their rightful inheritance. S. S. S. while thorough, is gentle in its action, and the healing vegetable ingredients which compose it build up every part of the system. Book on the blood and medical advice free. # The LION

AND The MOUSE

That great American story of the present day exposing the unscrupulous methods of the money octopus novelized from Charles Klein's play

By Arthur Hornblow
ILLUSTRATED BY HEYER

Will begin in our next issue. We asked a brilliant woman who had seen the play what impressed her most. She said it was the victory of the young woman over the king of the trusts, the final triumph of the higher nature over the lower in which Shirley Rossmore frees John Ryder from the chains of his sordid ambitions and restores him to his better self, suggesting the fable of The Lion and the Mouse. This made the strongest impression, notwithstanding there is a beautiful love romance running through the story.

Praised by the Critics

WASHINGTON POST
Will become the most talked of book of the year. As exciting and fascinating a narrative as has appeared in novel form in years.

NEW ORLEANS HARLEQUIN
The American nation is indebted to Mr. Hornblow. He has clothed with the vibrant, palpitating flesh of life interest the greatest economical problem and evil of the day. It is a book to make the multitude think.

To Begin in Our Next Issue Don't Miss It

How He Got a Drink.
An Indian traveling man told a story the other day of an incident on the road. He was in the smoking car of an express train reading his paper when a man rushed in from the car behind the smoker, evidently in great agitation and said: "Has anybody in this car any whisky? A woman in the car behind has fainted!" Instantly dozens of flasks were produced. The man who had asked for it picked out the largest one, drew the cork and put the bottle to his lips. With a long, satisfied sigh he handed the flask back, and remarked: "That did me a lot of good, and I needed it, for it always makes me feel queer to see a woman faint away!"

Second Sight.
Marriage is the result of falling in love at first sight. Divorce comes when you get your second sight.—Smart Set.

How She Prepared.
A French gentleman anxious to find a wife for a nephew went to a matrimonial agent, who handed him his list of lady clients. Running through this he came to his wife's name, entered as desirous of obtaining a husband between the ages of 38 and 35—a blonde preferred. Forgetting his nephew, he hurried home to announce the discovery to his wife. The lady was not at all disturbed. "Oh yes," she said, "that is my name. I put it down when you were so ill in the winter and the doctors said we must prepare for the worst."

Electric Bath.
An electric bath in which the patient is deluged with electric sparks 3 foot long is announced to work wonders by celebrated French scientists. Hardening of the arteries, cerebral hemorrhage and heart lesions are declared to yield to the treatment.

Teaches Unselfishness.

HAYWOOD TO TELL HIS LIFE'S STORY

HIS TESTIMONY IS LIKELY TO CONSUME SEVERAL DAYS.

DOCUMENTS TO BE READ

Defendant Will Explain Away the Payments to Simpkins and Adams—Refutation of Bomb Story.

Boise, Idaho, July 8.—The attorneys for William D. Haywood Sunday completed the details of their plans for the final week of the defense, which begins with the opening of court Monday at ten o'clock. Interest in the trial this time centers in the forthcoming appearance upon the stand of Haywood, who, it is claimed, has been the moving force in the Western Federation of Miners for the past several years, and one of his codefendants, Charles Moyer, the president of the miners' organization.

The third defendant in the famous case, George A. Pettibone, will not take the stand, it is said, until his own case comes on to be heard. Steve Adams, whose recent trial for the murder of a man in northern Idaho resulted in a disagreement of the jury, and who has been variously implicated by Harry Orchard in many of the latter's crimes and alleged conspiracies with the leaders of the Western Federation, is still in Boise jail available as a witness for the defense, but it has been definitely decided that he shall not be called to the stand. The prosecution still claims it would welcome such a move, as the appearance of Adams on the stand might open the way for the introduction of a portion at least of Adams' reputed confession.

Haywood to Tell All.

Viewed in the light of the closing plans for defense and prosecution, there seems little hope that the trial, which has already been in progress for two months, can be brought to an end inside of three weeks. The defense will require at least five or six days yet, for it is announced that Haywood when he takes the stand will be prepared to lay bare his entire life's history.

His testimony as to his connection with the Western Federation of Miners will be interspersed with much documentary evidence and the introduction of this and reading it to the jury will take up much time. The defense expresses its willingness that the cross-examination of Haywood shall take the widest possible range. The defendant, it is said, will not only deny in toto all that Orchard has said as to his connection with any of the witness' crimes, but will offer a perfectly plausible explanation of the instances where the state has associated Orchard and Haywood, notably the instance of Haywood's part in the deception of the second Mrs. Orchard as to the whereabouts of her husband in the late summer of 1905.

Will Explain Payments.

Haywood will also be called upon to explain the sending of several drafts to Jack Simpkins, a member of the executive board, and an organizer for the Western Federation, whose presence in Caldwell with Orchard just prior to the assassination of former Gov. Steunenberg has not been denied by the defense. The attorneys for the federation say that these payments were the regular sums due Simpkins for his work as an organizer and had absolutely nothing to do with any crime or proposed criminal act. The sending of $75 to Steve Adams in Ogden, Utah, will also be a subject of inquiry when Haywood takes the stand.

The fourth instance to which the state attaches importance as tending to connect Haywood with the alleged conspiracy as revealed by Harry Orchard upon the witness stand was the sending of a message by Haywood to Silver City, Idaho, instructing the Federation officers there to see that attorneys were engaged for Orchard and to protect the interests of the miners' union.

To Disprove Bomb Story.

The week will begin with the reading of depositions secured by the defense in San Francisco contradicting Orchard's claim that he destroyed the Bradley house with a dynamite bomb. With a supporting affidavit from Bradley the defense will claim the explosion was due to gas. Dynamite experts will be introduced to show that the explosion of such a bomb as Orchard claims to have placed on the Bradley porch would have created far greater havoc than was the case and that it would have been impossible for Mr. Bradley himself to escape with only the few bruises he received.

The state may indefinitely prolong the trial by going into the Colorado labor troubles on rebuttal. In addition, it will undertake to contradict the statements of many of the defense's witnesses. This will require several days, the attorneys interested being at a loss themselves to say how long.

Lebreton May Succeed Schmitz.

San Francisco, July 8.—District Attorney Langdon has decided, it is said, to advocate the selection of W. J. Lebreton to succeed Eugene E. Schmitz as soon as the latter is sentenced by Judge Dunne. Mr. Lebreton is a banker and philanthropist. He has been active in previous nonpartisan political movements.

Wealthy Silk Manufacturer of Paterson, N. J., Is Killed.

Keyport, N. J., July 8.—Christopher Horand, a wealthy silk manufacturer of Paterson, was killed and other members of his family injured when a locomotive struck and demolished an automobile in which the party was returning home from Asbury Park late Sunday. The accident happened at the Stone road crossing of the New Jersey Central railroad.

St. Paul, Minn., July 8.—Dr. J. H. Nichols and C. E. Williams, both of Minneapolis, were probably fatally injured in an automobile accident. In this city Sunday afternoon. They were members of a party of five, including Mrs. Nichols and J. H. Smith and wife. While driving along Summit avenue the chauffeur lost control of the car in some way, and the machine and its occupants went over the edge of a bluff, rolling over and over nearly 200 feet to the edge of the Mississippi river. All the occupants of the car were so seriously hurt that they were taken to a hospital, where it is said Nichols and Williams will probably die.

DUBLIN CASTLE ROBBED.

Portions of the State Regalia Stolen from Safe.

Dublin, July 8.—A portion of the state regalia, valued at $250,000, has been stolen from Dublin castle. The safe in which the regalia was kept was forced. The jewels stolen were those used in the ceremony of investiture in the order of St. Patrick, the professional cross studded with diamonds and the jeweled sword which is borne in procession at the investiture of the knights.

Lord Castledown, knight of St. Patrick, was to have been chief of the state ceremony on the visit of King Edward to Dublin, but it is officially announced that the ceremony will be postponed. Sensational developments are expected.

PLAN TO DISPLAY NAVY'S RESOURCES

QUICK TRANSFER FROM OCEAN TO OCEAN WILL BE SHOWN.

PURPOSE OF MANEUVER

Demonstration Will Be in Interest of International Peace—Germany Thinks Japan Will Fight.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 8.—Admiral Brownson came to Oyster Bay to take lunch with the president, professing entire ignorance of the maneuver plans. When he left Sagamore Hill to take the train for Washington, the admiral had one thought which he wished emphasized—that it was desirable and important to demonstrate to the world how quickly the American navy could transfer its fighting strength from one ocean to the other.

This was distinctly an addition to the president's previous statement, issued through Secretary Loeb, wherein the object of the maneuver was said to be an exercise movement for the benefit of the navy, to perfect its training in fleet exercise.

To Show Navy's Agility.

What came from President Roosevelt through Admiral Brownson is decidedly a different and much broader design. President Roosevelt has been consistent in advocating a large navy as the surest guaranty of peace between the United States and all foreign powers.

To the somewhat uninteresting array of ships and tonnage, President Roosevelt now proposes to give the world, a somewhat startling demonstration of what the American navy is capable of doing to protect either or both of the extended shores of the United States. As Admiral Brownson said, "there is no time like the present for such a demonstration," a time when the United States is at perfect peace with every nation. The proposed demonstration with the fleet can be looked upon in no other light than that President Roosevelt intends to use the American navy for exactly that purpose for which he has advocated its augmentation—a guaranty of international peace.

Germany Expects a War.

Berlin, July 8.—The conviction of an ultimate conflict between Japan and the United States appears to be widespread in Germany. It is one of the subjects certain to be referred to wherever diplomats and military and naval officials, and others accustomed to follow international politics, meet.

It is believed by many that the group of ruling statesmen in Japan are preparing to fight the United States for the mastery of the Pacific, regardless of the San Francisco incidents.

Sakamoto Scoffs at Our Navy.

Tokio, July 8.—The Hoch prints an interview with Admiral Sakamoto in which the admiral is quoted as follows:

"Should hostilities break out between Japan and America the result would be indecisive, owing to a want of proper bases of operations. Such bases as exist are too far distant for practical purposes. Even the nearest bases, namely, the Pescadores, Cavite and Manila, are at a distance of 600 miles from one another.

"Even if the Washington government should decide on a war, it is doubtful if the Americans serving in the navy are sufficiently patriotic to fight. American naval officers are brilliant figures at balls and social gatherings, but they are very deficient in professional training and practice. It is too much to expect a burning patriotism in the American naval service in case of war with Japan. It is very likely that most of the crews would desert and leave the ships."

BRODHEAD

Brodhead, July 7.—About three inches of water has fallen here in the past twenty-four hours.

Capt. and Mrs. A. N. Randall will leave next week for the southwest in the hope that Mrs. Randall's health may be improved by the change of climate.

While assisting in rescuing some livestock from a burning barn, caused by lightning, Miss Evelyn, at farmland on the Grange (Sageon) farm, was crowded against a stall with such force as to break his collarbone.

Chas. Durner of Evansville was a Brodhead visitor on Friday.

Work of remodeling the Methodist church parsonage has begun. Holcomb & Smith have the contract.

Miss Grace Wilkinson of Janesville is spending the week at home and camping at Decatur lake with a party of friends.

Miss Jean Stewart is the guest of Deloit friends for a week.

Miss Mildred Mitchell, who has been teaching at Iron Mountain, Mich., the past year, is home for the vacation.

Louis Randall has gone to Stockton, Mont., with his children, where the children will make their future home.

Miss Lola Rowe was out from Chicago the fore part of the week.

While on the way to church last Sunday morning G. E. Dixon killed a four-foot black snake near the residence of Geo. M. Pierce.

Miss Bert Woodling of Milwaukee is the guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Woodling.

Miss Belle Christman is the guest of friends in Elizabeth, Ill.

Miss Belle Gosling, who has been attending Bible school at Mellin, is expected home for the summer vacation.

Miss May Lucens is home for the summer vacation from New London, where she has been teaching the past year.

DOOM OF MIGHTY LONDON.

Fire About the Only Agency Which Can Cause Its Destruction.

With hints of German invasion and of an approaching earthquake, the question "What will be the doom of London?" seems a not unreasonable one. What will be the end of the great city? What will bring about the ruin over which Macaulay's New Zealander is to cast his moralizing eye? Several answers may be given. The destruction of London at the hands of a victorious invader is possible, but extremely improbable. London may be besieged, even bombarded; she cannot be destroyed. Flood? This again may be dismissed as most improbable; and one calamity only remains to be considered, namely—fire. Now, London has suffered more, than once terribly, from this cause, and in 1666 the city was practically wiped out. Every one knows this; but it is not every one who knows that the great conflagration was predicted 15 years before by Lilly, the astrologer, and by another astrologer, Nostradamus, a century before that. Nostradamus cast his prediction in a French quatrain, the gist of which was that in 1666 London would be visited by a conflagration which would destroy St. Paul's and 82 other churches.—Casell's Saturday Journal.

Light-Toed Gentry.

"The best pickpockets," said the detective, "are the Hindoos. You have to call them light-toed as well as light-fingered, for they can lift a watch or purse as easily with their feet as with their hands. Trained from childhood, these bare-footed rascals are wonderfully skillful with their toes. This gives them a great advantage. A Hindoo in a crowd will stand with his arms ostentatiously folded and sneak with his foot the wallet from your trousers pocket."

"I was found with it around my neck."

"Duke, what do you think?" asked the agitated prince.

"What do I think?"

"Yes. This was around my son's neck the day he was lost. If this should be!"

"What?" The duke looked from the prince to the man who had worn the locket. Certainly there wasn't any sign of likeness. But when he looked at the portrait on the wall and then at Max, doubt grew in his eyes. They were somewhat alike. He plucked nervously at his beard.

"Prince," said Max, "before heaven I believe that I may be . . . your son!"

"My son!"

By this time they were all tremendously excited and agitated and white; all save the princess, who was gazing at Max with sudden gladness in her eyes, while over her cheeks there stole the phantom of a rose. If it were true!

"Let me tell you my story," said Max. (It is not necessary for me to repeat it.)

The prince turned helplessly toward the duke, but the duke was equally dazed.

"But we can't accept a story as proof," the duke said. "It isn't as if he were one of the people. It wouldn't

"But I—"

"You have known me only four days," she whispered faintly. "You can't know my mind."

"Oh, when one is a prince!"—laughing—"It takes no time at all. I love you. I know it was going to be when you looked around in old Bauer's smithy."

"Did I look around?"—innocently.

"You certainly did, for I looked around and saw you."

"But they say that I am wild like a young horse." (Love is always finding some argument which he wishes to have knocked under.)

"Not to me,"—ardently. "You may ride a bicycle every day, if you wish."

"I'd rather have an automobile," drolly.

"An airship, if money will buy it!"

"They say—my uncle says—that I am not capable of loving anything."

"What do I care what they say? Will you be my wife?"

"Give me a week to think it over."

"No."

"(She liked that!)"

"A day, then?"

"Not an hour!"

"(She liked this still better!)"

"Oh!"

"Not half an hour!"

"This is almost as bad as the duke; you are forcing me."

"If you do not answer yes or no at once, I'll go back to Barscheit and trounce that fellow who struck me. I can do it now."

"Well—but only four days—"

"Hours! Think of riding together forever!"—joyously taking a step nearer.

"I dare not think of it. It is all so like a dream."

"Oh! bursting into tears (what unaccountable beings women are!)—"If you do not love me!"

"Don't I, though?"

"Then he started around the table in pursuit of her, in all directions, while, after the manner of her kind, she balked him, rosy, stare-eyed. They laughed; and when two young people laugh it is a sign that all goes well with the world. He never would tell just how long it took him to catch her, nor would he tell me what he did when he caught her. Neither would I, had I been in his place!"

"Here's!" said the prince.

"It's a great world," added the duke.

"For surprises," supplemented the prince. "Ho, Hans! A fresh candle!"

"And the story goes that his serene highness of Barscheit and his highness of Doppelkinn were found peacefully asleep in the cellars, long after the sun had rolled over the blue Carpathians."

THE END.

"What do you know?" cried the prince, bewildered.

"Something I have not dared tell till this moment,"—miserrably.

"Curse it, you are keeping us waiting!" The duke kicked about the shattered bits of porcelain.

"I used to play with the—the young prince," began Arnheim. "Your highness will recollect that I did."

Arnheim went over to Max. "Take off your coat," Max did so, wondering. "Roll up your sleeve." Again Max obeyed, and his wonder grew. "See!" cried the colonel in a high, unnatural voice, due to his unusual excitement. "Oh, there can be no doubt! It is your son!"

The duke and the prince bumped against each other in their mad rush to inspect Max's arm. Arnheim's finger rested upon the peculiar scar I have mentioned.

"Lord help us, it's your wine-case brand!" gasped the duke.

"My wine case!" The prince was almost on the verge of tears.

The girl sat perfectly quiet.

"Explain, explain!" said Max.

"Yes, yes! How did this come?"—put there?" spluttered the prince.

"Your highness, we—your son—we were playing in the wine cellars that day," stammered the unhappy Arnheim. "I saw . . . the hot iron . . . I was a boy of no more than five . . . I branded the prince on the arm. He cried so that I was frightened and ran and hid. When I went to look for him he was gone. Oh, I know; it is your son."

"I'll take your word for it, colonel!" cried the prince. "I said from the first that he wasn't bad-looking. Didn't I, princess?" He then turned embarrassed toward Max and timidly held out his hand. That was as near sentiment as over the father and the son came, but it was genuine. "Ho, steward! Hans, you rascal, where are you?"

The steward presently entered, shading his eyes.

"Your highness called?"

"That I did. That's Max come home!"

"Little Max?"

"Little Max. Now, candles, and march yourself to the packing cellars. Off with you!" The happy old man slapped the duke on the shoulder.

"I've an idea, Josef."

"What is it?" asked the duke, also very well pleased with events.

"I'll tell you all about it when we get into the cellar." But the nod toward the girl and the nod toward Max was a liberal education.

"I am pardoned?" said Arnheim.

"Pardoned? My boy, if I had an army I would make you a general!" roared the prince. "Come along, Josef. And you, Arnheim! You troopers, out of here, every one of you, and leave these two young persons alone!"

Ah, how everything was changed! thought Max, as he let down his sleeve and buttoned his cuff. A prince! He was a prince, he, Max Scharfstein, cowboy, quarterback, trooper, doctor, was a prince! If it was a dream, he was going to box the ears of the fellow who woke him up. But it wasn't a dream; he knew it wasn't. The girl yonder didn't dissolve into mist and disappear; she was living, living. He had now the right to love any one he chose, and he did choose to love this beautiful girl, who, with lowered eyes, was nervously plucking the ends of the yellow tassel. It was all changed for her, too.

"Princess!" he said a bit brokenly.

"I am called Gretchen by my friends,"—with a boldness that only half disguised her real timidity. What would he do, this big, handsome fellow, who had turned out to be a prince, fairly-tale wise?

"Gretchen? I like that better than Hildegarde; it is less formal." Well, then, Gretchen, I can't explain it, but this new order of things has given me a tremendous backbone. "He crossed the room to her side. "You will not wed any—my father?"

"Never in all this world!"—slipping around the table, her eyes dim like the bloom on the grape. She ought not to be afraid of him, but she was.

"But I—"

"You have known me only four days," she whispered faintly. "You can't know my mind."

TRUE TO HIS PROMISE.

By Their Own Testimony, Doctor Had Rejuvenated Patients.

A German doctor who claimed to have discovered the secret of restoring youth, advertised in London that he could in two days rejuvenate the most decrepit hag. This brought a crowd of ancient dames to his house. At the first interview he invited each patient to write her surname, Christian name and age on a piece of paper. The ages were all ruled high. The doctor undertook to give each patient the promised elixir next day. On the appointed day the doctor regretted that he unfortunately had mislaid the paper containing his youth-seekers' ages, and he, therefore, requested each one to write it down and call again. In writing down her age the second time each woman took many years off the age she previously had admitted. The doctor, pretending to have found the first papers, called them to witness, comparing the lists, that he had kept his word, inasmuch as in 48 hours they had all become many years younger.

Where Did He Get It?
The late Dr. Reinhold, in one of his books, tells of a German, suffering from dropsy—in German called "Wassersucht"—or water disease—who exclaimed: "Where did I get it? I haven't tasted water for 30 years."

THE ONE HE WANTED.

Advice From the Old Hand to the Aspirant for Honors.

The amateur author entered the sanctum of the old hand, his artistic fingers roaming through his hair, his eye in a faze frenzy rolling.

"Me soul chafes within me," he announced.

"Let her chafe," muttered the old hand; "I'm busy."

"Me father's business interests me no longer; the daily round, the common task, fills me with disgust! Me whole being shudders as I sift the sand into the sugar, and me hand trembles as I add the water to the milk. Me mind is made up—I will quit this base bartering for a nobler life. I will become a journalist. I will join the staff of a magazine. Which of them, think you, will raise me to the highest position in the shortest period?"

"You might try a powder magazine," suggested the old hand, laconically. "Seems just the thing you want!"—Stray Stories.

Feeding the Kaiser.

Feeding the German emperor is no light task. Despite all that is said about the kaiser's Spartan habits there are few monarchs who keep more elaborate tables.

He has no less than four chefs—Solledenstucker, a German; Harding, an Englishman; an Italian and a Frenchman—so that he can have his meals for the day served in the style of whatever nation he may happen to fancy.

Each of these chefs has his staff of assistants, while, in addition, there is an individual who may be described as "sausage maker to the kaiser."

His majesty is very fond of the huge white frankfurter sausage, and has a supply of them made fresh every day in his own kitchen. When engaged in maneuvering his army on a big field day these frankfurters and bread, washed down with lager beer, invariably form the kaiser's lunch.—Cleveland Leader.

—That's what my new automatic cement mixer enables me to do—and the guarantee is made through the Rock County National Bank.

The mixer—manufactured by the Knickerbocker Co., of Jackson, Mich., is the best and most perfect mixer in the world.

It enables me to lay cement sidewalks and do all kinds of cement and concrete work in less time and at a lower price than any others.

It does its work far better and more uniformly than the old hand way.

I guarantee all concrete work to be at least an 8 to 1 cement, and I guarantee all my work in every way.

Reference: Rock County National Bank, Janesville.

If you are thinking of having any work of this kind done, get my prices.

The city of Janesville, after investigating my work and my prices, appointed me official sidewalk builder.

Chances are you will agree with its judgment.

I'll gladly show you the work I've done with this mixer.
